Graduate School of Social Sciences

WINTER SCHOOL COURSES in MEDICAL ANTHROPOLOGY AND SOCIOLOGY

January 7 – January 15, 2013

The Medical Anthropology and Sociology winter school courses takes place annually in January. These short, intensive courses are designed to offer students both overview and insight into the state of the art of medical anthropological research in three essential themes in health care. Participants will be exposed to the latest thinking in medical anthropology and will be stimulated to discuss and exchange ideas. The winter school courses are taught in English. They are part of the Master’s programme in Medical Anthropology and Sociology offered by the Graduate School of Social Sciences, University of Amsterdam.

Courses on offer (click for more information):

- Medicine and Human Rights in Cross-Cultural Perspectives – Dr. Oliver Human
- Anthropology of Sexuality, Aids and Reproductive Health – Co-chair Prof. Dr. Anita Hardon
- Culture, Psychology and Psychiatry – Prof. Dr. Joop de Jong

Courses are open to:

- Health and health-related professionals / PhD students in social science / Master’s students in social science

Schedule:

Between Monday 7 January – Tuesday 15 January a total of 10 sessions per course (all three courses run simultaneously):

Jan 7, Mon 10-12:30h and 14:00-16:30h
Jan 9, Wed: 10-12:30h and 14:00-16:30h
Jan 11, Fri: 10-12:30h and 14:00-16:30h
Jan 14, Mon 10-12:30h and 14:00-16:30h
Jan 15, Tues 10-12:30h and 14:00-15:30h

Credits:

6 ECTS or a Certificate of Attendance, except for current UvA Master of Medical Anthropology and Sociology students, who take the course for 3 EC with a smaller assignment.

Tuition fee:

€ 1500 for professionals / € 810 for PhD students / Master’s students from Dutch universities register at no extra cost. Invoices can be sent to employer, research institute or individual.

Application:

For more information about admission and the application form visit:

www.gsss.uva.nl/summer-winter/winter/winter-programmes

Deadline 15 November 2012

Contact details:

Information Desk Graduate School of Social Sciences
tel. (+31)(0)20 – 525 3777 10am-2pm

Trudy Kanis-Scholts, admissions officer Graduate School of Social Sciences
g.j.m.kanis-scholts@uva.nl

Lieve de Coninck, MSc, programme manager Master Medical Anthropology and Sociology
l.deconinck@uva.nl